Christmas Memories

*I thank my God every time
I remember you.*

Philippians 1:3

As my kids have grown through babyhood and beyond, I never want to forget those earlier days. I love to get out the Christmas tree ornaments and look at the ones from each year that the kids made at school or church with their pictures in them. I'm so grateful for the children God has given me. Pause this season to take pictures of your kids playing with a nativity set, hanging ornaments, or reading the Christmas story and store them with your Christmas decorations for future years

Try This:

I keep a manger set on a low table that little ones can touch and play with. A favorite simple game is to put the pieces in a bag or pillowcase and we take turns pulling one out and placing it in the manger scene. Taking turns with this simple activity helps my child learn basic skills for playing with others.
