WINTER B
Lesson 10

Praying Naturally

“Pray to God, and he will hear you.”

See Job 22:27

Although I talk to God often in my head, when my children are around I make an effort to pray out loud so they can learn how to have conversations with God. I knew it was making a difference when I started to hear my young children do the same. One day we were in the kitchen during a thunderstorm and my preschooler prayed, “Jesus, help all the people driving in cars so they don’t have an accident.”

Try This:

If your child is starting to learn numbers and letters, write the numbers one, two and three on a sheet of paper. Then ask your child, What is the name of one friend? What are two foods you like to eat? What are three toys you are glad to have? Write the answers on the paper. Then pray together, thanking God for all these good things.
